The Ticket No Good.

BUTTE, Jan. 18.—Two men whose names could not be learned, bought two tickets at Calkins' for the John L. Sullivan show tonight, but when they presented them at the door of the opera house they turned out to be old tickets for Katie Putnam. They could not get in and then called on Judge Eddy and wanted to have some one arrested, but the judge was too busy. They said that they had asked Calkins for the return of their money but that it was refused them, as they did not bring back the old tickets, the doorman having torn them up.

Camp, the Evangelist.

BUTTE, Jan. 18.—Rev. J. E. Squires received a letter today from Major Camp, the evangelist, in response to an invitation to take charge of the M. C. T. U. He said he was at present engaged in a series of very interesting meetings at Livingston, and as soon as he was at liberty, the Murphy Union should have first call on his services. The major said that on the evening of his writing the gamblers of the town had turned out in a body to attend the meeting, and were apparently impressed by what they heard.

Meadvell's Mention.

MEADVILLE, Jan. 18.—A hobo, driven by Alex Davis and loaded with heavy logs, tipped over under the Boston & Montana upper works trouble this afternoon. The driver had turned out to allow another team to pass, and in doing so he drove too far up on the side hill, with the above disastrous result.

TURNED HIS HAIR GRAY

Price's Awful Experience While Hiding From the Officers.

IT WAS GLOOMY AT THE MINE

Lived on What the Miners Threw Away—How He Fared in the Attic of the Hall.

BUTTE, Jan. 18.—Price's hair is turning gray. Those who saw him yesterday and today say that his hair has become very gray in front, whereas before his escape he had only a very few gray hairs. Price was asked about this, and said it was true, and that the gray had all come in the last week or 10 days.

If Price tells anything like a true story in regard to his adventure after leaving the prison, it is no wonder that his hair has turned gray. A short statement of his experiences was given in the STANDARD this morning. Price told the story merrily fully this afternoon. Some parts of his yarn are probably true, while other parts are almost incredible. He says, for example, that he never spoke to a person from the time he escaped, and that not a man helped him. He says that as soon as he got out he went straight to a deserted mine near Walkerville. He doesn't say which one it was, but says that the mine was perfectly dry. At night he would go out and forage for food according to his story. He says he never got any food except what he picked up around mines after the men had had their lunch. They usually after eating tipped the remnants in their buckets out on the ground. This Price picked up, and this, he says, he lived on. Most of his food he got around the Mountain Con mine. It was terribly cold some nights, Price says, and one night it was down to 20 below. He contracted rheumatism, from which he now suffers a great deal. He says the mine got so lonely that he dreaded to go near it and longed for the sight of a human face. So he decided to change his place of abode. After spending Thursday in the mine he got out as soon as it was dark, pretty well satisfied that no one could detect him as his beard had grown and he scarcely looked like the same person. He walked down town from Walkerville. He stopped for a few minutes in front of his house, where his wife still lived, and felt a yearning to go in and see her, but did not dare to run the risk. He went on down in Miners' Union hall. He walked up the stairs and went through the ante room, into the closet and up the ladder without any one seeing him. He insists that he had nothing whatever to eat from the time he went up there. When asked how he got hold of Saturday morning's STANDARD he said he went out on the street at 8 o'clock in the morning and bought it. He was asked why he ran such a risk, and replied that he was certain he could not be detected looking as he did. He was then asked why he did not leave town if he was so well disguised, and said that he would have left town if he had had any money at all. The rope around the chimney, he said he got from the flagstaff.

One strange thing is how Price got so many flasks of whiskey. There were seven half pint flasks in the attic by his cot, and most of them were empty. If he drank it all since Thursday night he should have been pretty drunk when he was captured. Mrs. Price was very anxious to see her husband today, but it is certain that Price will not be allowed to go up there again, and it is doubtful if she will be allowed to visit him. She is getting better and is able to set up. It is said that she knew nothing about his escape until today.

WOOLSTON'S REPLY.

It is Unprofitable to Furnish Meadvell a Better Street Car Service.

BUTTE, Jan. 18.—Superintendent Woolston today sent to Gunderson Bros. and 320 other citizens of Meadvell a reply to the petition for additional service. He expressed readiness to increase the service if the receipts authorized additional service, but did not believe they are. The South Butte receipts are 50 per cent, more than the Meadvell receipts. The railroad trains besides make more frequent service on the South Butte line a necessity. The cars on the Meadvell line, he said, run regularly, only six trips on that line being missed during December. The cars are now warmed. Continuing the letter says:

I will give you the official record for the month of December, 1891, which is the last month for which I have full record. The "car trip book" in the office shows 1,117 trips and receipts for the same in December. This is a loss of only six trips during the entire month, which is a remarkably good record. I take it that the majority of the waiting referred to is where passengers desire to take cars from Butte to Meadvell. At the corner of Park and Main streets there is a street car every 15 minutes, and another, the last car, at 12 midnight. The cars from Meadvell reach Park and Main street five to six minutes before the last car of the day. We allow Meadvell passengers to take this car and ride west over Missiona with extra charge, simply to give them seats and relieve them from the necessity of standing in the street. When the car returns to Main street on the way to Meadvell about 5 or 6 minutes after midnight, and half helps they can again take it. Therefore, as a matter of fact, Meadvell passengers can take the car at Park and Main streets four times each hour from 8 a. m. to 11 p. m., as follows: Six minutes before the hour, 6 minutes after, 24 minutes after, 36 minutes after, 48 minutes after each hour. I received the petition for additional service, and I am endeavoring to answer it in the same spirit and trust that you will so receive it. The policy of the company is to release the public who pay us for rides, our only source of income, and if consistent with the present condition of business interests we would most certainly grant you what you ask. I wish to remain respectfully yours,

GEORGE F. WOOLSTON, General Manager Butte Consolidated Railway Company.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION.

Regular Meeting Held Yesterday in the M. G. T. U. Rooms.

BUTTE, Jan. 18.—The Butte Ministerial association held its regular meeting this afternoon in the assembly rooms of the M. G. T. U. An unusual number of persons were present, including the Rev. Allen of Helena, who lead the devotional exercises and Rev. S. E. Snyder, presiding elder of the Helena district M. E. church, who was elected to honorary membership of the association.

Reports of committees were given, in which that on the Sunday school convention, to be held in Butte Tuesday and Wednesday of the first week in May, reported everything progressing favorably for that event. The committee ordered to arrange a programme for the convention to be reported to the association. There being no further business, Rev. A. W. Graves read a very strong paper entitled, "The Triple Nature of Man." He took the position that the spirit of man was the highest part, the intellect the middle part, and the body the lowest or sensual part, illustrating and enforcing his views by many scriptural texts and analogies in nature. The paper was fully discussed by the various members present, some of whom held dissenting views. Those expressed by the author and on motion Rev. Mr. Graves was appointed to prepare a paper on the same topic to be read at the next meeting, in which another view of the question will be argued. Rev. Graves announced the continuance of a series of meetings in his church during the week and invited the sympathy and cooperation of the body of ministers. Some practical questions such as the Chinese problem and the lottery charter were suggested for discussion and in the near future will be able and faithfully handled by members of the association.

ONLY A JOKE.

How Swindlers Worked a Greeny for Six Dollars.

BUTTE, Jan. 18.—James Dunstan and William Hendricks were tried to-night before Judge Eddy on a charge of cheating William Thomas out of $6. The complaining witness, a guileless, unsuspecting young fellow, alleges that he had met the defendants a few nights ago in a saloon, and that they had represented themselves to be contractors and promised him work. After promising him work they had borrowed $6 from him for the purpose, they said, of buying some tools. This morning Thomas appeared at the saloon where he had met the men, ready to go to work, and was surprised when informed that he was the victim of a practical joke, that the men were no contractors, had no word to give out, and that they had "blown in" the money. Thomas then demanded his money back, and meeting with a refusal, he filed a complaint against Dunstan and Hendricks. The men were arrested, and pleaded not guilty, although admitting that they had received the money, but claimed the thing was only a "joke." The court held the jokers under bonds until tonight, when they appeared with several witnesses, all of whom swore that they had never seen anything alleged by the prosecuting witness. His honor was not prepared, however, to render a decision and announced that judgment would be reserved until next Friday afternoon, and in the meantime the accused are held under bonds.

WICKED MONGOLIANS.

Discharge of a Highbinder for Lack of Evidence.

BUTTE, Jan. 18.—Quong Fung Sing, one of the Chinese highbinders, was discharged in Judge Eddy's court this afternoon. Sing was charged with drawing a revolver on the person of Tom Hu' and threatening to kill him. When the case was called for hearing the complaining witness failed to appear, and he could not be found, although an officer was sent in search of him. It being impossible to proceed with the trial, the court was compelled to dismiss the case for want of prosecution. Hu' had evidently been spirited away, for the occasion, but whether forcibly or with his own consent, is not known. Persons familiar with the way of Chinamen say that it need not surprise anyone to hear of one or more murdered Chinese being found some day, clear morning, as the rival factions of the local Hong Kong have declared war against each other, and on occasions of that kind they always settle disputes in their own peculiar and effective manner without invoking the aid of the white man's tedious process of law.

DISTRICT COURT DOINGS

County Assessor Holland Wants Pay For His Labor.

IT IS GROWING INTERESTING

He Appeals From the Commissioners' Decision—Cases Before Judge Pemberton—Court House Notes.

BUTTE, Jan. 18.—There were five new suits commenced in the district court today. Assessor M. L. Holland took an appeal from the decision of the board of county commissioners in the matter of the disallowed fees for assessing mortgages held by non-residents. The assessor claims to have been ordered to make the assessments, and when he had fairly started he was stopped because the attorney general changed his opinion in regard to the legality of the assessment. The commissioners and the attorney general, said Mr. Holland, could not collect fees where the assessment was illegally made and where there could consequently be no taxes collected. The assessors' bill amounts to several thousand dollars and he thinks the amount is worth fighting for.

Frank Dorehoefer has commenced a suit against William Guddehofer and the State Savings bank on the foreclosure of liens, which he holds against a building occupied by Guddehofer. The amount involved is $200, and judgment is asked for that amount together with $100 as attorney's fees.

Lee W. Foster & Co. filed a complaint against John A. Leggett to recover a debt. Lee & Shackleford have a claim against William Little for furnishing plans and specifications upon request, and to-day brought suit to recover $275 and costs of the suit.

In Judge Pemberton's court Dora Shauld filed a petition for divorce from her husband, Charles J. Shauld. She sets forth that they were married in Butte on Jan. 1, 1891, and that after a honeymoon of only two months he wilfully and deliberately deserted her, and has since absented himself. Before he took his departure he told her that he would never return. The plaintiff does not know where he now is, and filed an affidavit for publication of summons.

Judge Pemberton held a short session of court this morning for the purpose of examining into the qualifications of the members on the jury venire. Of the entire first venire but 11 qualified and a half dozen were excused. A number of those subpoenaed paid no regard to the court's summons and failed to put in an appearance. Consequently the court ordered attachments issued for D. D. McLaughlin, Charles McDermott, L. Lienemann, A. J. McDonald and Frank Coll. A venire was issued for 26 additional names, made returnable to-morrow morning. There will, however, be no jury trial until Wednesday or Thursday.

Jacob Smith, the murderous negro, and E. F. Stifford, one of the safe blowers, two of the men who were recaptured Saturday, were arraigned this morning. Both pleaded not guilty. The negro's trial was set for next Friday, and that of Stafford for Thursday, the same day set for the trial of his partner, Spencer.

The motion for a new trial in the divorce case of Morrison vs. Morrison, which was set for hearing this morning, was upon request continued until next Saturday, after which the court adjourned until to-morrow morning.

A Boston & Montana Mortgage.

A mortgage paper, covering 83 pages of printed matter, was filed for record to-day, and is given by the Boston & Montana Consolidated Copper & Silver Mining company to the Massachusetts Loan & Trust company. It is given for the purpose of securing $600,000 of 7 per cent, gold bonds. The indenture relates that the mortgage was given in pursuance of a resolution adopted at a meeting of more than three-fourths of the stockholders, for the purpose of securing the bonds, for the purpose of issuing bonds to be used, among other things, for purchasing and erecting at Great Falls a complete electrolytic plant and appurtenances. The bonds will be $600,000 bonds, 100 of which will become due in 1902, and 100 each year following until all are paid. The mortgage covers the entire property of the Boston & Montana.

Court House Notes.

BUTTE, Jan. 18.—Harry Brundage, the Helena lad who ran away from home, is still in the county jail. His stepfather at Helena wrote the sheriff asking him to hold the boy until they could send for him, but did not indicate when that would be. The boy also got a letter from his grandfather at Bismarck, who offered him a good home upon the promise that he would be a good boy and go to school. He still insists on his story of cruel treatment at home and does not want to return there. He has been in jail for two weeks now.

The painting in the county jail has been completed and the cells look a great deal more inviting and also smell somewhat cleaner.

An agreement between Thomas C. Garfield and others and Hubert Edwards was filed for record today. The lease is on the Henry quartz lot claim, and lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, block 4, of Henry's addition and continues until Dec. 1, 1892. The lessee shall work the mines and give the owner one-fifth of the proceeds. At the expiration of the lease Edwards can have the privilege of buying the property for $50,000.

Twenty new mining location notices were filed with the county recorder today. All apartments of the court house complain of a lack of business except the sheriff's office. The latter has been busy enough the past few days.

Judge McHatton has started on his tour for the coast. There will be no regular session of his department for five or six weeks.
